Bus Suggests 2 Integrated Schools, No Segregated

ROCK (AP)—Gov. Oran's today asked the Little Rock School Board to integrate high schools and let the remain segregated for the time being.

Only this was "Fabius" request. The school board's challenge to give it a method of some segregation. The board said in a news conference that the board members would leave Central High and Tech High for the time being.

Plans to obey a federal mandate for integration. The Little Rock School Board under a pupil placement plan intends to start segregation in the high schools when the fall term starts.

35 Negroes have received for the three high schools — 49 at Central High, and one at Tech. The board made its proposal in a meeting held by messenger from the school board. The board members could not comment immediately.

governor said in the Little Rock School Board that the school board should attend integrated schools, to come forward with a plan.

Defense Rests Case in L. R. Libel Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The defense rested its case in the $500,000 Bob Trout libel suit trial yesterday. Attorneys presented a series of witnesses to support a contention that tape recordings of alleged payoff arrangements existed prior to February, 1958.

Trout, an Arkansas Democrat, is suing pinball machine distributors Cecil Hill and Harold Dunaway, and the Arkansas Gazette, Hill and Dunaway contend the tape recordings describe a purported $2,000 payoff to Trout to suppress news articles about pinball operations.

The Gazette is "defendant" because it printed an account of the transactions. The newspaper presented no witnesses in defense and maintains its publication of the matter was in the public interest.

Trout's attorneys were to begin rebuttal testimony today. Pulaski Sheriff L.C. Young testified yesterday he heard the tapes three days before Hill and Dunaway made them public.

Trout contends the recordings were altered and prepared sometime this year, with some of the dialogue pertaining to a $2,000 charity donation he conferred on Hill and Dunaway.

Search Starts for a Missing Private Plane

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol started an aerial search today for a light plane missing on a flight from Texarkana to Columbia, Mo.

The four-place Piper aircraft was reported lost last night. It was piloted by Dr. H. H. Larson of Columbia.

CAP officials here said it was not known if Larson carried any passengers when he left Texarkana yesterday morning.

Col. Ken Watkins of the CAP said a low ceiling hampered search operations. A search plane took off from Harrison and others were standing by to leave from Little Rock. Hot Springs, Fort Smith and several other Arkansas cities as soon as weather conditions permitted.

Watkins said Dr. Larson was on his first cross-country flight. He was supposed to radio his position to tower officials at Fort Smith but failed to do so, Watkins said.

Third State Polio Death Reported

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' third polio death of 1959 was reported yesterday by the state Health Department.

Dr. A.M. Washburn, director of the department's Division of Communicable Disease Control, said the victim was Donna Camp, 21-months-old daughter of Lela Camp, negro, of Little Rock. The baby was brought to the University Medical Center here last Tuesday and died that day, Washburn said. Cause of death was determined yesterday as polio.

A Little Rock man and a Port Smith girl were the other two polio victims.

Thirteen new cases of the disease were reported last week, Washburn said, making a total of 40 compared to seven at this time last year.

Aluminum Strike Now Major Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—A major strike in the aluminum industry was threatened today as negotiations in the two-week-old steel strike remained deadlocked.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, said he expected no agreement in the aluminum industry before contracts with major firms expire at midnight Friday.

McDonald, whose union represents workers in aluminum as well as steel, said the same "no contract no work" policy covers both industries.

The copper industry also faced a possible strike threat.

Officials of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union were reported considering a strike against the nation's copper plants next month. The union's contracts expired June 30, but its members are working while negotiations continue.

Fort Smith Teachers File Affidavits

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Affidavits required under Act 10 of 1958 have been filed by all 498 teachers in the Fort Smith School District. Superintendent Chris D. Corbin said yesterday.

The affidavits must list the teachers' organizational connections over the past five years. Yesterday was the deadline for filing.

Negro Youth Held for Break-in Here

CITY POLICE arrested a 17-year-old Negro yesterday on a charge of breaking into a building at the sewage disposal plant on the O'Neal farm. Chief Jack Brown said the boy took a 10 inch electric fan, a brass ball, aluminum plates and some pipe.

West Firm on Stand to Stay in Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP)—The Western foreign ministers reached speedy agreement today on a revised document setting forth their position on a Berlin truce arrangement.

Western officials said the summary reiterates that the West will maintain its position on Berlin rights in Berlin. The revision will be handed to the Russians when talks resume Wednesday.

The foreign ministers made two changes in the proposals advanced first on June 16. The main one suggested that the United Nations monitor radio broadcasts in East and West Berlin to check for propaganda during the truce period.

The second simply revised some of the language in a section declaring Western rights in Berlin will remain in force until Germany is unified.

Over the weekend British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had been reported pressuring his allies to accept a Soviet pledge for a limited time. But Lloyd was said today to have agreed with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter that Western policy on the issue of protection for West Berlin should stand unchanged.

Both the Soviet Union and the Western powers were rewriting their rival proposals for breaking the Berlin crisis. Each side obviously hoped the other would come up with new concessions.

The Big Four ministers planned no meeting today. But the three Western ministers met and were reported to have sought some new formula for resuming stalled East-West disarmament negotiations.

Diplomatic sources said this problem probably would be taken up with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko before the Geneva Conference ends. Gromyko Continued on Page Two

7 Prisoners Break Out of Kentucky Jail

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Seven prisoners, at least two of them considered dangerous, broke out of Newport City Jail early today.

Five of the escapes were being held on federal charges. The other two were local men.

Authorities identified them by name but gave no other information about them immediately except that two, Demetrius Lewis and Howard D. Glenn, were under 20-year sentences and regarded as dangerous.

The other federal prisoners were identified as Joseph Dinardo, Elbert Wellman and Lawrence Adams. The local prisoners were identified as Carl H. Webb and Harry Lee King.

The floor on which the prisoners were kept was apparently unattended, as no violence is known to have occurred when they escaped.

Four blocks were set up on the four bridges leading from Newport and Covington to Cincinnati and the work-around traffic was jammed as police inspected every automobile.

Cotton Field Meets Slated on Thursday

Three field meets on cotton insect control will be held in Hempstead county on Thursday, July 30, announced County Agent Oliver L. Adams today.

As the critical period for emergence of second generation boll weevils is expected in many fields of older cotton in the Hempstead county area at this season the field meets should prove very timely. A sharp rise in bollworm population is also expected in certain fields.

Extension Entomologist Grover C. Dowell will be in attendance and will conduct the insect scouting for stage of infestation and give a review on insecticides for each situation.

The first field session will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at the Bill Schooley farm, seven miles north of Hope on No. 29 road. The Schooley cotton is moderate late. A demonstration in using four insecticides on 5 acre blocks of cotton will be explained. The insecticides to be used as dusts are: Sevin 7½ per cent, Sevin 10 per cent, Methyl Parathion and DDT, and Malathion and DDT.

The second field study will be held at 10:30 at the Lays Hampton cotton about one mile northwest of Joe B. Rowe store. The Hampton cotton consists of early and moderately early planted where insect control with Methyl Parathion as a spray has been used. A spray calibration demonstration will be given at the Hampton farm by Associate County Agent Wade Benefield.

The final meet will be Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the Sloman Goodlett farm about 3 miles above Ozan on No. 4 road. The Goodlett cotton is early and moderately late and offers opportunity for observations similar to much of the Hempstead county acreage. The cotton is being treated or is to be treated with dust.

All cotton farmers and other interested individuals are urged to attend any or all of the Thursday cotton insect control field meetings.

Situation Is Reversed in Harlem Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—An NAACP drive to get Negro liquor salesmen a larger share of the Harlem market has touched off allegations that this may constitute discrimination against whites.

The Anti-Discrimination League of New York, a national Jewish organization, said Monday it was investigating such allegations.

The league said the problem was extremely delicate, because of the long and close association the groups have had in fighting discrimination against both Negroes and Jews.

The campaign was begun by the New York branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. The national organization was not consulted in advance. So far it has taken no stand on the issue.

L. Joseph Overton, president of the New York branch of the NAACP, organized the drive last month. He denied he sought to out established white salesmen.

Overton said there are about 200 wholesale liquor salesmen selling to Harlem retail stores, and of these only 72 are Negroes.

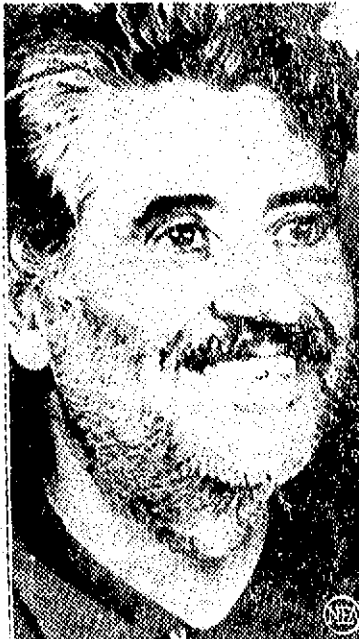

Ike Will Discuss Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower canvassed with GOP congressmen and leaders today the prospect of getting some civil rights legislation before Congress.

In advance of a White House conference, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview he thinks the chances of action by the Senate are improving.

Foreign Aid Bill Faces More Slashes

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1,886,500,000 foreign-aid appropriation bill, already far below President Eisenhower's request, faces a new cutting drive today in the House.

But indications were the bill would be sent to the Senate late in the day substantially in the form it was drafted last week by the House Appropriations Committee.

Some members say the amount provided by the committee is too much. Others contend it is too little. The White House has labeled the measure inadequate in its present form and would like it boosted by $390,295,000.

An increase of that amount would provide $3,576,795,000 for use during the present fiscal year to help friendly nations in their resistance to communism. That is the amount authorized by Congress in separate bills setting ceilings for the aid program.

President Eisenhower originally sought an authorization for $3,929,295,000 for the present year. He added 500 million dollars to that request last week with the explanation the extra half billion would be an advance against loan funds authorized for next year.

The committee not only rejected the advance payment of 500 million for next year but lopped $390,295,000 from the amount Congress previously had authorized.

Hawaii Holds First State Election

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

HONOLULU (AP)—The nation's newest state votes today in its first election.

From Hilo to Honolulu, the melting pot of people who live on this 3,800-mile island chain, cast ballots for two U.S. senators, one representative, a governor and a 76-member state legislature. The polls close at 10 p.m. EST.

It appeared to many — for the first time in U.S. history — that a person of Japanese or Chinese ancestry would be sent to Congress.

Republicans cheered their unyielding role but hoped to upset predictions of a Democratic sweep by grabbing several major offices.

Democrats made a strong showing in the July primary and have won Hawaii elections since 1953. Election officials predicted a record vote — perhaps 90 per cent of the 183,000 registrants.

Hope, Stamps Men Questioned by Officials

A weekend drinking orgy that roamed over at least three counties has resulted in two men being held for suspicion of murder in the death of a Texarkana, Texas woman.

The badly beaten body of Anita Stewart, 32, was taken to a Lewisville hospital early last night by D. L. Dillard, about 40, of Hope and O. D. Lee, about 40, of Stamps.

Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger said the two men requested medical attention for the woman at Lafayette County Hospital. Dr. Cross of Stamps pronounced the woman dead.

A further examination also revealed the woman had been horribly beaten. Mr. Weisenberger said, Lafayette County Dr. Harrison sent the body to Arkansas State Hospital for further examination. The men were arrested by Sheriff Buck Baker of Lewisville.

Mr. Weisenberger said both men are being held on suspicion of murder pending a complete investigation. He said his investigation had traced the woman from El Dorado to a beer hall at Garland City, to a private home in Nevada County near Willisville and another near Rocky Mount, just outside Hope. She was also traced to a Hope tourist court and a local rooming house, he said. Several men were apparently with the woman during the weekend.

Mr. Weisenberger said Dillard came into the picture sometime Monday and that Lee apparently had been with the woman all weekend. Both insisted the woman had been beaten before they joined her.

The prosecutor indicated there was a lot of drinking involved. He said the only address Officers had been able to trace the woman to was in Texarkana, Texas and is one of several houses of prostitution which are now in process of being closed. He said a woman who ran the Texarkana house tentatively identified the dead woman.

Mr. Weisenberger said the group was asked to leave the local tourist court and rooming house. The investigation continues. Dillard is being held in Hempstead County jail and Lee is being held at Lewisville.

Gov. Long Goes Riding With Divorcee

NOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana ditched a bunch of trailing newsmen and his police escort Monday night and took an automobile ride with a pretty divorcee. After a midnight chat with her, he returned to his hotel room.

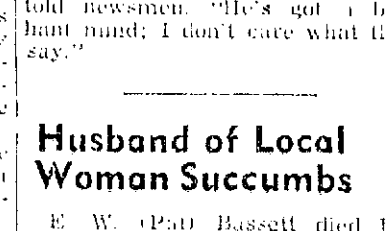

Today he planned to take one of the thermal baths for which this resort city is famous and visit the "Joe-Ein-Down" store at Pine Ridge, Ark., made famous by radio's Lam and Abner comedy team.

After their drive, Ann Billings, about 35, urban-bred divorcee from Memphis, Tenn., said their talk was delightful.

"We talked about politics," she told newsmen. "He's got a brilliant mind; I don't care what they say."

The new Soviet atomic icebreaker, a thorough going over.

Nixon and his party took off in a Soviet jet airliner for Novosibirsk, a big machine manufacturing center of 827,000 population, 1,750 miles east of Moscow. G. G. Zhukov, chairman of the Soviet State Committee for Cultural Links with Foreign Countries, accompanied the American party.

Nixon and Rickover, father of America's atomic submarines, cotided with Soviet restrictions Monday as they toured the 16,000-ton Lenin nearing completion in Leningrad.

Rickover protested they were getting a run-around because they were allowed only a long-range look at the three reactors that will power the ship. He said Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov, on his visit to the United States, had been given a close look at American atomic installations and "we answered every question he asked."

"I want to see the insides," demanded Rickover. Nixon backed him up.

with Negro students.

"There would then exist two integrated schools, leaving the other facilities available for those students whose parents are unwilling to accept integration."

Faugus said he made the suggestion because it was clear a majority of white parents do not desire integration. In support of this, he cited a September, 1955, referendum in which Little Rock voters called 3 to 1 for segregated schools.

The governor also suggested that the board send boys to one integrated school and girls to another "to forestall the inevitable increase of moral problems which have always come with integrated schools."

Faugus said that if not enough

Soviet officials, Rickover then made a two-hour inspection of "everything I wanted to see." The reactors themselves were inactive.

He emerged to describe the pride of the Red navy "a fine job," but said, "it does not represent an advance in the reactor white parents volunteered to back the plan. "The children of the small number who do volunteer may be assigned to Horace Mann High School with the Negro students. It would then be unnecessary to assign any Negro to any other school. All Negro students would be attending an integrated school."

The incident at the shipyard was the only disconcerting note of the first stop of the Nixon party's five-day tour outside Moscow.

The governor said no "sincere proposal," it will afford an integrated status in the public schools for Negro students and will avoid for Negro students the segregated status which, in the language of the U.S. Supreme Court, has a detrimental effect upon the colored students.

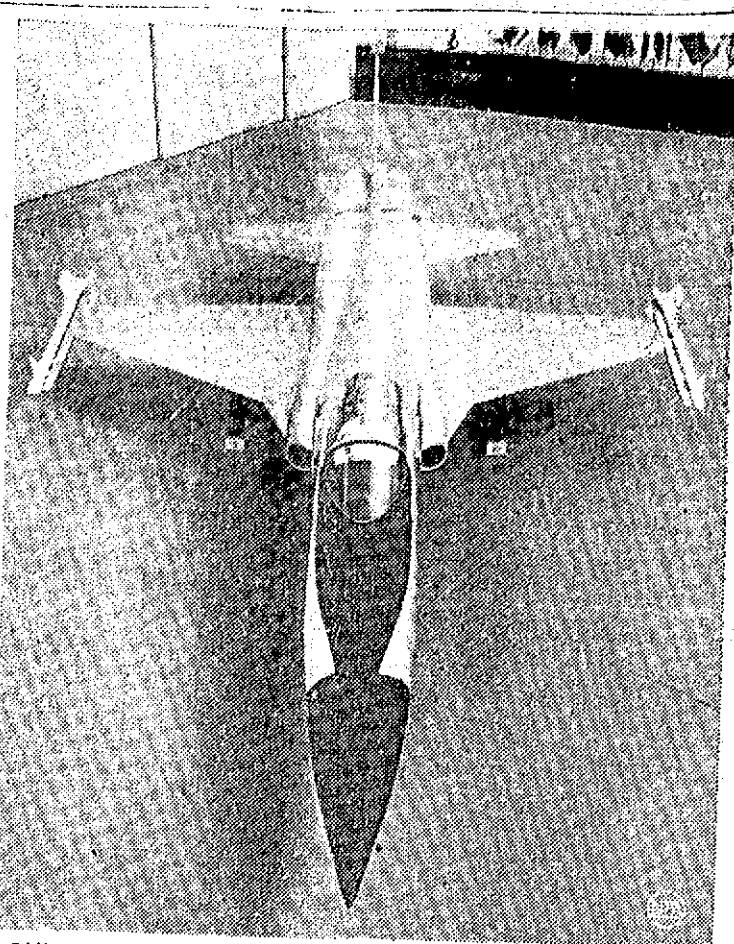

And, the governor added, the plan could not offend any sincere segregationist because "it allows full freedom of choice for all those of either viewpoint."

Faugus said he thought acceptance of the plan by the school board and "the integrationists of Little Rock" would bring an immediate solution to the racial dispute.

"Peace, measurability and animosity should rapidly subside," the governor said. "With friction removed, the propaganda wars, boycotts and counter-boycotts would almost immediately be forgotten."

CUT-RATE JET FOR ALLIES — The "Freedom Fighter," above, is a relatively cheap, easily maintained jet fighter for U.S. allies. It will be manufactured by the Northrop Corporation. The plane, a variation of the U.S. T-38 trainer, is designed to meet the needs of NATO, SEATO and other allied countries for a low-cost, all-weather fighter that can deliver bombs as well as the latest air-to-air missiles, such as the Sidewinders mounted on the stubby wings of this prototype.

ko is said to have indicated an interest in the disarmament question in private talks.

There have been no disarmament negotiations since 1957 when the Soviet Union denounced the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee on the grounds that it was one-sided. It was composed of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union.

Some Western diplomats are now thinking in terms of a larger group made up of three members each from the East and the West.

Reports circulated that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in recasting his Berlin proposal, might omit direct reference to his previous demand for creation of a committee to negotiate on German reunification during a truce in the Berlin crisis.

Western officials said this could mean Gromyko was cutting his price on a Berlin truce. It also could mean he had decided against pressing his point for the negotiations on other aspects of the Berlin dispute.

Deputies of the Western ministers were reported working out still another formula calling for continuation of the Allied position in West Berlin and access to that city for an indefinite period. Their aim is to get the Soviet Union to agree to refrain from unilateral action against West Berlin, at the same time putting no time limit on the pledge.

Group Goes Against Gas Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee today voted down proposals to increase gasoline taxes to keep construction of the Federal Interstate Highway System on schedule.

The committee action was not final, however, and could be reversed at any time.

The committee continued to meet behind closed doors in an effort to agree on some highway financing plan as an alternative to President Eisenhower's demand for a 1½ cent raise in the federal gasoline tax.

A deficit in the highway construction trust fund, estimated to reach a half billion dollars next spring, threatens an immediate nine-months work stoppage on the 4,000 mile network and a slowdown in the program thereafter.

Proposals for various increases in the 3-cent federal gas tax received no more than half a dozen votes from the 25-member committee.

By the margin of a single vote, the committee also defeated 12-11 a proposal by Rep. Burr Harrison (D-Va.) to suspend construction of the interstate system for one year until revenues would make up the deficit.

The highway law states that funds may not be apportioned to the states for highway building if

3-Man Race for Judge Is Voted Today
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A three-way race for Little Rock traffic judge is among propositions facing voters as a number of Arkansas cities and counties hold optional primary elections tomorrow.

Other elections include a Garland County bond issue proposal for a Hot Springs industrial program, a Fayetteville mayor's race and a Pine Bluff waterworks purchase plan.

Incumbent Traffic Judge Robert (Bob) Lester is seeking re-election over former Judge John L. Sullivan and John W. Bailey. Lester, one of three strong segregationists recalled from the Little Rock school board recently, won the office in November of 1957 when he was the only one on the ballot.

If one of the three men receives a clear majority, he will be the Democratic nominee on the November general election ballot. If no candidate gets a majority, the top two will meet again in a runoff primary Aug. 11.

A light vote is expected, Lester and Bailey have scheduled television appearances tonight.

Pine Bluff voters were asked to approve an ordinance which would allow the City Council to negotiate for purchase of the city's privately-owned water system. It does not provide for buying the system.

Garland County voters will ballot on a $310,000 bond issue which would be used to help bring a shoe factory to Hot Springs.

In Fayetteville, voters will choose a new mayor. J. Austin Parish and Guy E. Brown are candidates for the office.

Castro Gets a Charge of Treason
HAVANA (AP)—A charge of treason brought by a private citizen against former President Manuel Urrutia was referred to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cabinet Monday night. Supreme Court Judge Julio Garciaerda Val signed an order transferring the case from the court to the Cabinet.

The ruling puts Castro in the position of sitting as judge on the man he put in as the first president of the revolutionary government and then crushed.

Urrutia quit on July 17 after Castro had accused him of near treason in a TV speech.

Castro himself resigned as prime minister before launching his assault on Urrutia but was shouted back into office on Sunday at a giant celebration in Havana.

The charge of treason against the ex-president was brought by a Cuban lawyer, Raul Gomez Quintana, who said he was a member of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Autumn Chill in Sweep of Northwest
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An autumn-like chill swept the Pacific Northwest and tumbled over the Rockies today, pushing the mercury into the low 40s and 50s over much of the region.

In contrast, warm and humid weather maintained a sticky hold on the eastern half of the country. Slight relief was expected from afternoon and evening thundershowers.

The cool Pacific air sent early morning temperatures in portions of the Northwest below levels recorded in Alaska's major cities. The mercury dipped to 36 at Redmond, in central Oregon, and 38 at McChesney, in the northeastern corner of the state. Fairbanks, in central Alaska, had 42 degrees. Tropical air etc. 2nd graf, 148

Says U. S. Aids Nations That Will Shoot Us
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Otis E. Passman (D-La.) told the House today that some nations receiving U.S. military and economic aid "would likely shoot at us, and not with us, if war should come."

Passman made the statement in debate on a $3,186,500,000 foreign aid appropriations bill cut $1,243,495,000 below the amount requested by President Eisenhower.

An appropriations subcommittee headed by Passman drafted the bill. He urged the House to uphold the subcommittee's actions despite objections by the President.

On the other side of the argument, Rep. Silvio Conte (R-Mass.), a member of Passman's committee, protested a cut of $300,000,000 from the $1,600,000,000 the President asked for direct military assistance to Allies.

The military aid program, Conte said, has made available to the United States abroad some 25 operating bases, supports ground forces of more than 5,000,000 men and maintains 30,000 aircraft and 2,500 naval vessels.

This program, he said, is now endangered by our arbitrary, unwarranted slash of nearly 20 percent.

Passman, saying "we cannot buy friends," named Yugoslavia, Poland and Indonesia as countries receiving aid but which "would likely shoot at us" in event of war.

Passman said "substantial windfalls" have been reaped from the aid program by the printing and publishing industry, the motion picture industry, the shipping industry, bankers, manufacturing interests and colleges and universities.

Seeks Explanation of Atlas Failures
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Space Committee summoned the Air Force top missile chief today to explain what has gone wrong in efforts to get the Atlas missile in shape for combat use.

Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Research and Development Command, was called as the first witness.

The committee is inquiring into the recent series of unsuccessful firings of the big intercontinental ballistic missile. It also will look into recent test failures of the Navys Polaris, an advanced type missile designed to be fired from submerged submarines.

After five successive failures, the Air Force last week successfully launched the first Atlas in five months over the full 5,000-mile Atlantic missile range.

It would create a new agency, the Civil Research and Development Commission, to handle the program. The bill goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments.

DOROTHY DIX
Gossipy Kid Brother Wants to Kiss, Tell
By DOROTHY DIX
Dear Dorothy Dix: Gina and I went steady for several months, then broke off by mutual consent. During the time we thought we were in love we figured there was no use holding back and we drifted into quite an intimate relationship. Now she is going with my older brother. He won't listen to any criticism of her and is a bit green about women. Should I tell him the truth or sit on the sidelines and watch him get hooked by someone I know won't bring him happiness? I'm happily married now, and want to see my brother do better.—Perry
Dear Perry: You are a vicious little gossip and a demon of a troublemaker. If you want to see your brother's romance bust up, let the girl know that the man in your family are poison. If she's smart she will clear out while the going is good. Gentlemen don't kiss and tell. But if you think you'll be impelled eventually to tell, do it now. At that you'll be doing the girl a favor.
Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a 16-year-old girl living with a widowed mother and a brother. Mom won't let me accept dates with boys, although I've been offered plenty. I can't tell this to the boys and I'm running out of excuses. Won't you tell my mother, and other mothers like her, to let us daughters have a bit more freedom? I stay on the honor roll at school just so she'll be proud of me.—May
Dear May: A word to you—stop making excuses to the boys. Tell them frankly that your mother won't let you date. This will be much better than being caught in a lie. And, a word to mom—children should be reared, and taught, so that at 16 they can be trusted with a little freedom. Helping them be independent, to stand on their own feet and to take care of themselves is one of the most difficult jobs of parenthood. It is just as important to help young people adjust to the social world as it was to shove baby food past reluctant lips. Mixing caution with latitude isn't easy, but no one ever said being a parent was easy.
Dear Dorothy Dix: I would like your opinion of a 27-year-old man who calls his mother every night to let her know he arrived home safely, so she won't worry. If he goes out later in the evening, he must report where he's going and when he returns.—Exasperated Wife
Dear E.W.: This is fine for the phone company but a bit silly for everyone else. It's a situation, however, that must be patiently borne-and paid for-by you. It isn't worth raising a big fuss. Your husband is a faithful son; have him bring his own boys up in the same tradition and someday you'll reap the benefits of his example.
Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Herb Score Is Still the 'It' Man of Indians

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Herb Score still is the "it" man for Cleveland, but now the young left-hander could be the difference between the pennant and a near-miss by the Indians, not just first or second division finish.

In each of the last two springs, the lightly regarded Indians had been figured to be only as good as Score. Last season it was "if Score can come back from that 'leg' injury." This spring it was "if Score can shake that arm trouble."

Now, with the Indians shooting for all the marbles he has been the tough-luck disappointment of their surprising staff.

Score lost his fourth in a row Monday night, a loser to a shutout for the second time in a three-week span. This one was a three-hitter by Jerry Casale that ended Boston's slump at six games with a 4-0 victory, clipped the Indians' winning streak at five and dropped them into a tie for the American League lead with Chicago's idle White Sox.

It was only the sixth time Cleveland has been blanked this season, but Score (9-9) has been the loser in half of them.

In the only other AL games, Kansas City matched the longest winning streak in the majors this season, making it eight in a row with a 7-6 decision over Washington that hoisted the A's past Detroit into fifth place. Baltimore dropped the Tigers 5-2, with Gene Woodling driving in all the Orioles runs.

In the National League, Milwaukee put away a five-game sweep over Pittsburgh, 5-2, and regained second place, closing within 1 1/2 games of idle San Francisco. Cincinnati rapped St. Louis 8-3 in the only other game.

Two runs in the eighth on singles by pinchhitter Frank House and Joe DeMaestri won it for the A's, matching the White Sox's mid-May winning streak. The Senators, losing their ninth in a row, set a Washington record with 128 home runs for a season on Harmon Killebrew's 33rd and a grand slam by Faye Thibodeau, which was matched by the A's Roger Maris. Harry Chitt also homered for Kansas City. Murry Dickson (1-0) won it, with Hal Woodeshiek (0-3) the loser.

Woodling, driving in the Orioles' last nine runs, cracked a grand slam, his 13th homer, off loser Jim Bunning (9-9) in the third inning, then added an RBI single in the seventh. Hee Brown (7-8) won it with Billy Lee's three innings of hitless relief.

Braves Look Like Champs in 5 Games

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves, who only a few days ago looked as if they had had it, now have it again—and the "it" is pitching.

With Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Juan Pizarro, Bob Buhl and Jocke Jack back in form, the Braves have reclaimed second place closing within 1 1/2 games of idle San Francisco in the National League race as Pat Jony put away a five-game sweep over Pittsburgh Monday, 5-2.

That five-man staff gave up only three runs in the five games, blanking the Bucs through the first 30 2-3 innings and not allowing an earned run for 38 frames until Pittsburgh finally got one home in the third inning Monday.

Cincinnati rapped St. Louis 8-3 in the only other NL game.

In the American League, Cleveland dropped into a first-place tie with idle Chicago, losing 4-0 to Boston and the three-hit pitching of rookie Jerry Casale. Kansas City matched the longest winning string in the majors this season, making it eight straight with a 7-6 victory over Washington. Baltimore defeated Detroit 5-2, with Gene Woodling driving in all the Orioles runs, in the only other game.

Despite a five-hitter by Javy (4-7) who hadn't won in a month, the Braves didn't bag it until the seventh. Blanked on three hits until then by Ron Kling (7-10), they broke lose for all five runs, scoring on Del Crandall's tying, two-run single and Bobby Avila's clinching, two-run triple.

The Reds scored twice in the first inning, then nailed Vinegar Bend Mizell (11-5) with Johnny Temple's fifth homer, a three-run shot in the fourth. Bob Purkey (9-10) went all the way, giving up five of the Cards' nine hits when they scored all three runs in the fifth.

Miss Arkansas Valley Title to Ft. Smith Girl

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coretta Bury, 19-year-old blue-eyed blonde from Fort Smith, has been named Miss Arkansas Valley of 1960.

Her selection came Saturday night at the climax of the Johnson County Peach Festival.

Miss Bury is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bury.

Kathryn Louise Dobbs of Clarksville won the Queen Elberta title. Both girls received $300 scholarships to the College of the Ozarks here.

Another Major League Plans Operation in '61

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The five founding cities of the third major baseball league — the Continental League — plan to operate in 1961 with at least eight clubs.

Where will they get the players? Will they work with the other major leagues? Or outside the present structure?

These questions will be battled around when the founders meet Aug. 18 with Commissioner Ford Frick's seven-man committee from the existing majors.

New York is one of the five founders. The names and backers of the others were announced Monday at a news conference by Bill Shea, chairman of Mayor Wagner's baseball committee. Toronto, Houston, Denver and Minneapolis-St. Paul round out the group of founders. Shea listed 11 cities that have evinced interest in joining. They are Buffalo, Montreal, Atlanta, New Orleans, Miami, Indianapolis, Dallas-Fort Worth, Seattle, Portland, Ore., San Diego and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Shea said he hoped to have two or three more cities lined up with the founders before his group meets with Frick's committee. He declined to reveal details of his plans for securing players from existing major league teams and their minor league farms.

The new league said it expected full cooperation from the American and National leagues, who voted in May to favorably consider applications for major league status by "an acceptable group of eight clubs which could qualify."

Shea said the league would have a minimum of eight clubs, perhaps 10 and more than 12 when fully organized. It will play a 154-game schedule.

"We are proceeding on the basis of complete and unqualified cooperation of the two existing major leagues," Shea said in a statement.

Shea also disclosed the league had arranged to comply with a request from Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) to appear July 3 in Washington before an antitrust subcommittee.

Local Little Loop 9 Smashes Smackover 11-0

Hope's Little League All-Stars with the aid of good hitting and sound pitching, downed the Smackover All-Stars last night at K-Park 11 to 0.

There was no score until the second when the locals broke loose for eight big runs. Roger McLelland led off with a single followed by Ronnie Ingram with a double. Charles Beard was hit by the pitcher loading the bases. McLelland then scored on a wild pitch moving the other runners to second and third. Then Larry Thrush' grounder was muffed by the second baseman scoring Ingram and putting Thrush on. Paul Henley then drove one through short scoring Beard and moving Thrush to third. Then Jerry Burtlett drove a three homer over the center field wall. Joe Morton hit another through short. Roger McLelland walked. Ronnie Ingram walked and Charles Beard doubled home the final two runs of that inning.

Hope picked up two more in the third on Buddy Jordan's single and Jerry Burtlett's triple and a final run in the fifth when Thrush hit one by the pitcher, stole second and moved home on two passed balls.

Ford, pitching for Smackover, gave up eleven hits, walked three and struck out seven. McDowell, pitching for Hope, gave up four hits, walked three and struck out eleven.

This win advanced Hope to the finals of the Area 4 tournament against Crossett tonight at 7:30. Crossett defeated Monticello 6 to 1 last night at Crossett and boast a good ball club.

Miss Davidson is cruising farther than the average family can ever find time to go. She has wisely planned her timetable, as every boatman should, so that she need not venture out when bad weather is threatening.

She hopes to compile a book in addition to her magazine articles. In it she may be able to explain how any family with enough time, experience, proper planning and a suitable boat can travel almost as far.

The excitement and pleasures of her trip, she explains, will be the new places she will visit and the people she will meet—rather than close calls, narrow escapes and

Mrs. Nixon Describes a 6-Hour Wait

By FRANCES LEWINE
LENNINGRAD (AP)—Mrs. Richard M. Nixon described today how she and four other women had sat to six hours while her husband and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev held their dinner table conference Sunday.

"It's the first time I've heard of any serious conversation at a dinner table," said Mrs. Nixon, a veteran at such affairs.

She had been at formal state dinners at the White House, embassy affairs, and high-level social occasions all over the world.

The vice president's wife reported the Nixons did not know in advance Khrushchev would not be at the Khrushchev country home himself during their overnight stay. When they arrived at the dacha overlooking the Moscow River a half-hour drive from Moscow, they were met by a manager of the house, Khrushchev and his wife spent the night at their Moscow apartment and drove down shortly after noon.

Mrs. Nixon said the wives of the three Soviet leaders — Mrs. Khrushchev, Mrs. Anastas I. Mikoyan, and Mrs. Frol R. Kozlov — had agreed that the discussion they heard was "very enlightening."

Her comment about the dacha visit came while she made a series of sightseeing trips in Leningrad that included a visit to the famous museum, The Hermitage, a Red youth movement training school for young boys in what once was a royal palace, and a theater. She also took a boat ride down the Neva River to Peterhof.

Mrs. Nixon's vigorous pace quite outdistanced Mrs. Kozlov.

More Russian Folks Crowd U. S. Exhibit

MOSCOW (AP)—Thousands of Soviet citizens again crowded into the U. S. National Exhibition in Sokolniki Park today, and the Soviet press continued its sniping at the exhibit.

The fair has been drawing well over the allotted 50,000 attendance in the opening days, and the sniping of so many feet already is wearing out the floor of the main building. American engineers were unable to persuade the Soviet contractors to put down more stable concrete.

Americans on the streets frequently are stopped by Russians who ask how they can get tickets. None are on public sale except through public organizations such as unions and factories.

"Naturally everyone wanted to learn more about various aspects of the life of the American people, the latest technical and scientific achievements," said Tass, the official news agency.

"The crowd was thickest at those exhibits which give an idea of the high technological achievements of American workers and who went along during the day's tour, accompanied by the wife of Yuri Zhukov, whose husband is cultural exchange director for the Soviet Union.

At The Hermitage, Mrs. Nixon saw one of the world's leading collections of paintings and sculptures.

Whatever his intentions, the girl headed them off with quick words.

THE STORY: Grady Haskell, special deputy sheriff, is in the Trinity Hills in search of one of Sheriff Bill Hoe's missing deputies who was sent to return an outlaw. On his arrival Haskell saves a calf from timberwolves and as he is carrying the animal to safety two men and a girl stop him and accuse him of cattle stealing.

Haskell faced this arrogant fellow with quickening anger.

"Mister, you talk like a fool," Tessler roared forward in his saddle, as though struck a physical blow and about to retaliate. Whatever his intentions, the girl headed them off with quick words.

"Easy, Vince! I'll handle this," She measured Haskell with ingenuity. American automobiles are among the main attractions. Tass said "the cars are indeed fine" but commented that a group of Moscow automobile workers closely questioned guides as to why U. S. manufacturers do not produce cheap midget automobiles and why they change models every year.

$280,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A suit for $280,000.50 was filed yesterday by a Kingsland (Cleveland County) couple for alleged injuries and property damages suffered in an automobile accident.

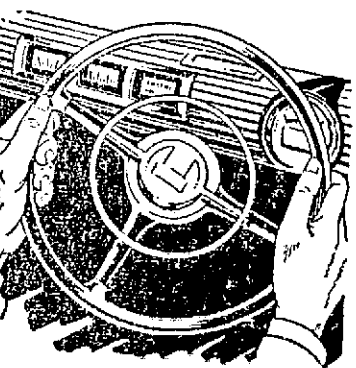

The action was filed in U. S. District Court.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brown said in their suit the car in which they were riding was struck from behind by one driven by Fred J. Hammer of Memphis, a traveling salesman. The accident happened March 27 on U. S. Highway 79 near Kingsland.

Brown, a centennial farmer, said he suffered a brain injury which permanently disabled use of his hands and arms and impaired his vision. The suit said Mrs. Brown also was hurt.

please of the rest!"

Arrogance remained in Vince Tessler, and hot intolerance still burned in his pale eyes.

"All right," he conceded, "we'll see if there's a wolf. Go have a look, Sandy."

"The older rider nodded, reined away at a lope.

"We heard no shot," Tessler said.

"Still watching Sandy, the girl said. 'Which doesn't prove that there were none, Vince. Sound doesn't travel very far in the timber.'

"Well now," murmured Haskell dryly, "that saves me being classed the complete liar."

Down meadow, Sandy pulled to a stop beside the willow thicket. Shortly he came jogging back.

"Wolf there, all right," he reported. "Fresh killed. As big a fella as I ever saw."

Taking a final drag of his cigarette, Haskell stubbed the butt on his saddle horn and looked around.

"Everybody satisfied?"

"Not entirely," Tessler said. "We could be wondering where you came from and where you're heading?"

Haskell shrugged. "My business is none of yours. And now, if the lady is satisfied that my intentions with a Hayfork cow and calf were strictly honorable, I'll be on my way."

There was an unintentional bite to his words which sent color racing through the girls' cheeks.

Surprisingly, gaunt old Sandy fixed Haskell with a level stare and spoke gruffly.

"Far as I'm concerned, you gave us the whole truth about the cow and calf. But Mister, I don't like the way you said what you just did. Maybe you better beg Kathies pardon!"

"Never mind, Sandy, the girl said quickly, her voice subdued.

"We—probably deserved that. Not growled the old fellow sturdily. 'You don't ever deserve short talk from anybody. Well, Mister?"

Meeting Sandys uncompromising stare, a glint of humor entered Haskell's eyes.

"Old timer," he said, "you're all right. If there was more to my words than necessary, I gladly beg the lady's pardon."

So speaking, he gave Katherine Levening a final direct glance, loosed his hat, then reined his horse across the meadow and into the timber. He rode with apparent unconcern until safely from sight, when he left his horse and prowled back about until he had clear view of the meadow again.

They were still as they had been, grouped in discussion. Presently they split up. Katherine Levening and Vince Tessler heading along the creek trail, deeper into the hills. Sandy, putting his horse to a fast walk, fixed his glance on the meadow and followed the hoof sign Haskell's mount had left.

Retreating to his saddle, Haskell went his way again. From time to time where timber and terrain made it possible, he checked on Sandy and found the gaunt rider sticking doggedly to his trail.

It took an hour of sundown when Grady Haskell rode into Reservation. Immediate concern being shelter for the dun, he rode the full length of the street before locating the feed stable and stable corral at the far end. Passing through, he made a guarded survey of the town and found this interest returned in full.

Here, at the far end of a narrow, shadowy runway a roustabout appeared and came along almost silently over the litter of straw and chaff underfoot. He was shiftless and dirty and rancid with an accumulation of stable odors, and there was a guarded uneasiness in his small, faded eyes as he watched Haskell rein in and step from his saddle. When he spoke, his words were as surly as his manner.

"What'll it be?"

The same wary suspicion and poorly veiled hostility had felt all along the street, and for that matter all through these Trinity Hills. It was, he decided, about time to meet the attitude head on.

"What's a man usually want when he rides into a stable late in the day on a weary and hungry horse?"

Haskell's stare was as bleak and demanding as his words, and the roustabout had no luck in answering either. His glance slid away and he reached for the duns rein.

"Charge is two-bits a night for general holding in the corral. For a stall, a manger of timothy and a feed of grain, half a dollar."

Haskell gave him a dollar.

With saddlebags over his shoulder and rifle under his arm, Haskell went out into the street and angled back to the hotel.

At the inner wall of the lobby tucked against the foot of a flight of stairs leading to the upper floor, was the register counter. Leaning against this, chewing on a cold cigar, a heavy man with a blocky face and a roach of iron-gray hair, eyed Haskell with a glance much too disinterested to be convincing.

Haskell spun the register and signed his name boldly.

"No address?"

"No address."

"No," said the man with the cigar. "In Amos Potter. I own this place. When a man stays with me I like to know where he comes from as well as what his name is."

"The name, Haskell said, 'is my own. If you must have more, put down any place you want. But gathered up his gear and fixed Amos Potter with steady eyes.

Potter shrugged and handed over a key.

Teacher Backs Out of Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock teacher who filed a suit challenging the state's teacher affidavit law has signed an affidavit, School Board President Everett Tucker Jr. said today.

Tucker said he understood the teacher, Ernest T. Gephardt, filed the statement of his organizational affiliations with an "under protest" notation. School officials said only that "Gephardt has complied with the act."

Gephardt declined comment. He filed a suit in Pulaski Chancery Court attacking the law requiring teachers to list organizations to which they have belonged or contributed over the past five years.

The court upheld the law and the state Supreme Court refused to delay enforcement of the act pending an appeal.

Signing of the affidavit clears the way for Gephardt, a Central High School industrial education instructor, to receive a teaching contract. His contract was not renewed because he failed to sign an affidavit by a deadline set by the school board.

seven, 12 and six.

The room had a single window which looked out on the street and across town to the canyon mouth and the climbing road of misty hill country beyond. An iron bed, neatly made up with clean blankets, stood on a square of worn, but well-swept carpet. There was a wash stand with heavy, white china pitcher and basin, and beside a all bracket lamp a small mirror hung. Finally, there was a round-backed chair with its legs firmly braced with a crisscross of twisted wire.

He stripped to the waist, his shoulders and chest startlingly white against the deep-brown brownness of his face and neck. In sluicing away the dust and grime of travel, it seemed he had in part also washed away some of a shell of hard, taciturn remoteness, and as he carefully fastened and lighted a brown paper cigarette, he became a younger, easier man.

The original idea had been that he drift into the Trinity like any other rider on the dodge. This, so Bill Hoe had reasoned, would allay any suspicion of his real purpose. But matters hadn't worked out that way at all, decided Haskell. So far, all he'd met up with had been suspicion and hostility. Knowing a stir of returning grime, he concluded he'd ride along with Bill Hoe's theory for a time, but if it continued to show no better results than it had so far, then the gloves would come off and he'd go at things his own way.

Twining said that he had quit smoking.
